E-RESOURCES

The leading publishers of books and journals have introduced new products namely electronic format books, journals and reports to enhance usage and access. The Academicians have shown keen interest in using those products and in turn they have recommended the same for the scholars and students. Thereby the need for having electronic resources arise and the academic libraries especially University libraries have started procuring / subscribing e-resources to fulfill the information needs of the patrons. This University Library also planned to have such e-resources to be purchased and made available for the member's usage. Based on this the Heads of the various department has recommended the following e-resources pertaining to their departments. The Subscribed E-Resources are listed in E-books, E-Journals and Database Menus.

ACCESS & PRIVILEGES

- All electronic resources subscribed and available through the University Library webpage are for academic use only and are governed by license agreements. It is the responsibility of individual users to ensure that e-resources are used for personal, educational and research purposes only.
- Systematic or programmatic downloading, preservation, and printing are prohibited. For example, you cannot download entire issue of a journal or print out several copies of the same article.
- Electronic distribution of content is also restricted although the specific restrictions vary from publisher to publisher. It may be permissible to forward an article to another colleague in your own institution by email, however, transmitting an article to someone outside of the institution, or to a large group of recipients, a mailing list, or an electronic bulletin board, is not allowed.
- You cannot post the PDF of an article on your website. The publishers' main concern is that people outside of your campus network should not be able to access resources licensed by your institution. However, a researcher can post a pre-print of an article written by him/her.
- As with any kind of scholarly communication, a researcher can use phrases or quotes from other articles and cite the source of information. However, a researcher is prohibited from using large chunk of information (paragraphs and chapters) from an article or from a chapter in a book.
- Publishers track the use of their electronic resources in terms of number of downloads made by subscribing institution. Misuse, if any, is notified to the subscribing institution with details of kinds of violations and institution is expected to take action. The publisher also suspends the access to e-resource pending suitable action by subscribing institution. The access is stopped not only for journals where license agreement was violated but for all journals by the same publisher. Moreover, the access is suspended not only for the individual violator but for the entire institution.
- It is the responsibility of individual users to ensure that the use of electronic resources does not breach the terms and conditions specified in the license agreements. Licenses vary from publisher to publisher; however, the general principles are as follows:

Permitted	Not Permitted
Viewing, downloading, copying, printing and saving a copy of search results	Use of robots or intelligent agents to do systematic, bulk or automatic downloading is not permitted
